Victimology

Credit - 02

Introduction:

Victimology is a relatively young branch of academic research. Its objective is to gain knowledge about victims of crime and abuse of power. Victimology has from its inception adopted an interdisciplinary approach to its subject matter. The main idea is to present an overview of the history and theory of victimology, analysis of victimization patterns with special emphasis on types of victims and crimes, the interaction between victims of crime and the criminal justice system with respect to the role of the victim and the services offered to the victim.

Course Objectives:

1. To analyse the magnitude of the victims' problems; explain causes of victimization; and to develop a system of measures to reduce victimization.
2. To analyze the victim-offender relations and the interactions between victims and the criminal justice system.
3. To study about victimological clinic, restitution, compensation, and reparation.
4. To critically evaluate the emergence of victim justice in India.

Learning Outcomes:

On the successful completion of course, students will be able to:

1. To examine the concept of victims and victimology and trace the trends of compensatory jurisprudence in India.
2. To understand that victimology is the study of crime giving importance to the role and responsibility of the victim and his offender.
3. Students will learn about the various impacts of victimization, restorative justice, and compensatory schemes for benefit of victims.
4. To evaluate what the criminal justice system is doing (or not doing) for crime victims.
